In conjunction with the Honors Program, the Center for Academic Excellence is sponsoring a series of student presentations to highlight student research and other academic work. On Monday, May 3, at 9 a.m. and 10 a.m., students representing the biology, theatre, communication and modern languages departments will present research, give speeches and demonstrations and otherwise share their short- and long-term academic projects. Please look for further details on posters displayed throughout campus. Come support your fellow students and hear about the exciting work they are doing!

Honors Program - Monday, May 3

Illinois College's annual Honors Celebration: A Recognition of Excellence will be Monday, May 3, at 11 a.m. in Rammelkamp Chapel. This is the time Illinois College students are recognized for all of their academic and leadership accomplishments. The Dunbaugh Distinguished Professor award is given to one special member of the faculty as well. It is indeed an "Honor" to be part of this event!

Personal invitations have been sent to all award recipients. If you are receiving an award, it is very important for you to attend. Even if you aren't going to be receiving an award this year, plan to attend and be there to congratulate your fellow students. This is truly an event to honor excellence.

Upcoming May Convos

Jacksonville Symphony Society Performance

Saturday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m. in Rammelkamp Chapel the Jacksonville Symphony Society will present the Symphony Chorale and the Illinois College Concert Choir in a performance of Parts II and III of Handel's "Messiah." CONVO credit is available.

"IBelieve@ic.edu"

Members of the Illinois College constitutional law class along with other members of the community have written 350 to 500 word essays stating their own personal belief. Writers consider moments when their belief was formed, tested or changed. They are to think of their own experience, work and family and tell of the things they know that no one else does. The stories may not be heart-warming or gut-wrenching - they can even be funny - but they are real. These stories tie the essence of the writer's daily life philosophy and the shaping of the writer's beliefs. This program will be held Monday, May 3, at 7 p.m. in Sibert Theatre. CONVO credit is available.
